FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S Desk

MS. TAMARA HEREFORD
Kingston High School

Looking at the year gone by, fills me with hope and encouragement that Kingston continues to foster education that goes far beyond the pages of a textbook. Our mission is to nurture the whole child — to develop not only academic excellence but also the vital skills of creativity, collaboration, organisation, and discipline that are essential for success in today's ever-changing world. These qualities are being cultivated every day through the active involvement of our students in every aspect of school life.

It has been truly inspiring to see our students lead from the front this year. Whether it was taking charge of the Annual Day production of Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory, the Kindergarten Annual Day performance of Goodnight Princess, or competing passionately in the Inter House Sports and Music Competitions, our students demonstrated remarkable initiative, creativity, and teamwork.

"Tell me and I forget. Teach me and I remember. Involve me and I learn." —Benjamin Franklin

These experiences are shaping them into confident, capable individuals, ready to meet the challenges of the future.

While we celebrate these achievements, I am proud to share that our academic performance remains outstanding. Our students continue to perform significantly above the national average across all subjects — a testament to their hard work, the dedication of our teachers, and the unwavering support of our parents.

In a world that is rapidly changing and full of uncertainty, the ability to think critically, solve problems, and adapt with creativity and confidence will be essential for success. At Kingston High School, we are proud to be preparing our students not just for exams, but for life, not just to survive, but to thrive — equipping them to lead, and to make a positive difference in whatever paths they choose to follow.

ANNUAL Report

"KINGSTON HIGH: A YEAR OF EXCELLENCE, GROWTH, AND ACHIEVEMENT – ANNUAL REPORT 2023-24"

The psychologist Jean Piaget said, "The goal of education is not to increase the amount of knowledge but to create the possibilities for a child to invent and discover, to create people who are capable of doing new things."

In our efforts to provide a holistic education for our students, we at Kingston have a vision for education that transcends the confines of traditional learning. In a world that is increasingly interconnected and complex, our approach to teaching and learning is also evolving to prepare students not just for exams, but for life itself. We believe that education should foster not just academic success but also personal growth and social responsibility. It is our aim that school becomes a place where students are encouraged to explore, question, and collaborate, where their unique strengths are celebrated and where their challenges are met with support and understanding, cultivating a love for learning that extends beyond the classroom walls.

Since our last Annual Day, Kingston High has had a constant stream of events and achievements to boast of.

We are extremely proud to announce that we have received permanent affiliation to the ICSE Council. We were also granted permission to begin ISC and have started classes for Grade 11. We offer students a range of subjects to choose from in streams of Humanities, Commerce and Science. At the Grade 9 level as well, we have offered students more options with regard to subject choice, introducing Commerce and Economics as core subjects and Mass Media and Communication as electives.

Academically, our students have continued to shine. In the ICSE exams 2023 and 2024, all our students passed with flying colours, with the average being over 85%.

Participation in SOF Olympiads and the KISA Talent Search Exams is noteworthy with over a 100 students registering for each exam. 7 students qualified for the second level of the Olympiad exams and received commendable national and international ranks.

We have always encouraged scientific curiosity in our students. Our Science Exhibition Eureka was conducted in January 2024 and was a resounding success. Students from Grade 1 upwards prepared working models, made presentations and conducted live experiments. Some of our students presented their projects at the REVA university inter-college competition and stood head and shoulders above the other participants. Iraj Debnath of Grade 7 won the competition for his groundbreaking project on Solar power while Meraj Ahmed of Grade 8 got the second place for her anti-sleep alarm, a pair of glasses that prevents drivers from falling asleep at the wheel.

Understanding that students of today learn uniquely and need to be engaged in different ways, we have introduced audio-visual and interactive learning with the installation of smart boards in Grade 7 and above. We aim to have the same in all our classes soon.

Sports and games have always been important at Kingston High. Our athletes and sports teams participated in the Valour Gear Sports Fest, the Vibgyor Viva sports fest, the SFA Championships, RKCA Cricket tournament and Sri Kamalabai Sports tournaments, to name a few. The SFA Championship is a state-wide sports tournament conducted by the Sports Authority of India. Our students performed exceedingly well - Adithyan A of Grade 1 won a Bronze medal in skating, Riddhi and Om Thakur of Grade 5 won a Gold and Silver medal respectively for Squash, and Sydwin Wesley of Grade 7 won the gold medal in carrom. At the TFP Football tournament conducted by Mother Teresa School, our U-11 Boys team won the tournament while our U-13 boys and U-12 girls teams were Runners-up. Our cricket team won the third place in both the RKCA and the SKEI tournaments while the team captain, Talish of Grade 7 was awarded the best bowler of the SKEI tournament. We are also proud to acknowledge our medal winners at district and state level Taekwondo championships - Haniya Khadija of Grade 10, Iraj Debnath and Amelia Tessy of Grade 8.

Our Gracious Givers Christmas Carnival “Make a Joyful Noise” was greatly appreciated and ended the calendar year on a high note. Choirs from schools and churches from around the city filled the air with melodies of Christmas carols.

The Carnival was conducted to raise funds for the various causes that we support. It was wonderful to see parents, students and staff all working together for a good cause. With the generous support and contributions from our parents and well-wishers, we were able to raise over 2 lakhs which was distributed towards the causes we support - Provision Asia, Nammane Summane, Ashraya School for underprivileged children, and Holy Family Old Age home to name a few.

In conclusion, the past year at Kingston High has been marked by remarkable achievements and a commitment to excellence. With significant milestones such as our permanent affiliation with the ICSE Council, the commencement of ISC classes, and the introduction of new academic subjects, we continue to expand opportunities for our students.

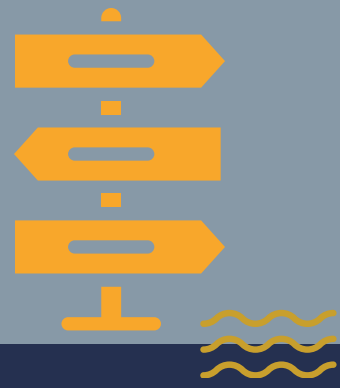

Beyond academics, our students have excelled in sports, science, and extracurricular activities, earning recognition and accolades at both national and international levels. Our community spirit was beautifully reflected in the success of the Gracious Givers Christmas Carnival, where together, we made a meaningful impact on several charitable causes.

As we look forward to another year, we remain steadfast in our mission to provide an environment where curiosity, creativity, and collaboration thrive, enabling our students to grow into confident, responsible, and compassionate individuals. We are grateful to our teachers, students, parents, and all stakeholders for their unwavering support, and we eagerly anticipate the opportunities and challenges the future holds.

ANNUAL DAY

22.08.2024

WILLY WONKA & THE CHOCOLATE FACTORY

Kingston High marked its Annual Day 2024 with grandeur and excitement on 22nd August at Ambedkar Bhavan. The occasion was honoured by the presence of the distinguished Chief Guest, Dr. (Mrs.) B. Gayethri Devi, Secretary of the Karnataka ICSE Schools Association (KISA) and Principal of Little Flower Public School. Her dynamic leadership in education has been an inspiration across Bangalore, and her encouraging words added great significance to the event. This year's theme transported the audience into the enchanting world of "Willy Wonka's Chocolate Factory." The musical showcased the creativity, discipline, and remarkable talent of Kingstonites, leaving the audience enthralled from start to finish. Before the audience was transported into the magical world of Wonka, Jonathan Francis Xavier of Grade 11 shared the incredible journey that led to the production. The planning for this event began as early as January, when the Principal, Ms. Tamara Hereford and Music Director, Mr. Philip Daniel, explored various themes and musicals before finalizing this enchanting choice.

In February, Ms. Tamara Hereford meticulously edited the script, while Mr. Philip Daniel worked on the musical arrangements. Auditions were conducted in March, after which the students received their scripts to practise over the summer vacation. Rehearsals commenced in June, despite the busy school schedule filled with examinations, sports tournaments, and inter-school competitions.

COME WITH ME, AND
YOU'LL BE IN A WORLD OF PURE IMAGINATION."
- WILLY WONKA

The teachers contributed immensely to the production—crafting creative props throughout July—while Academic Director, Ms. Nitasha Nilkanth, designed and coordinated the vibrant costumes showcased on stage. A special mention goes to our exceptional Dance Teacher and Choreographer, Mr. Ajay Prasad, whose creativity and energetic choreography elevated the musical and added a magical dimension to every performance. The months of preparation were a whirlwind of excitement and hard work, resulting in memories that students will cherish for a lifetime.

“Willy Wonka’s Chocolate Factory” isn’t merely a delightful tale—it carries a strong message about how good values and a positive attitude always triumph in the end. At Kingston High, we believe that Kingstonites, like the humble and kind-hearted Charlie Bucket, embody the virtues of kindness, compassion, and honesty. These values are what truly set our students apart.

The Annual Day 2024 was a grand success, reflecting the collective passion, discipline, and creativity of the Kingston High community. It was an evening filled with joy, learning, and celebration—one that will be fondly remembered by all.

Respected chairman Mr. Michael Thomas, chief guest for this special occasion Dr. Spurgeon, members of the management, the principal, staff members, students and parents of this great institution, I greet each one of you on this graduation day.

On this momentous occasion, I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt gratitude and admiration to the Chairman for his vision, dedication and unwavering commitment to excellence in education. In any school's time table, graduation day is a milestone day. This is the day to rejoice and reflect on what makes our Kingston High a truly unique center of learning.

As you move forward, I encourage you to hold on to the values and principles that have shaped your educational experience. I want to conclude my message with a quote from Nelson Mandela who said: "The greatest glory in living lies not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall." Thank you and God bless you all.

Dr. Abraham Ebenezer

A FAREWELL MESSAGE OF INSPIRATION AND HOPE

Dear graduating class of 2025 at Kingston High, hearty congratulations for making it to this point in your life. You are among a privileged few in the world to study in a school such as Kingston High and experience a wonderful journey of learning, growing and maturing. In the next few months, you will launch out into a world brimming with unique opportunities and challenges. In order to succeed through each of them, you will need to rely on the fortitude, courage, integrity and resilience that you have gained here at Kingston High.

Listen to the words of this poem by Minnie Louis Haskins:

And I said to the man who stood at the gate of the year:

"Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown".

And he replied:

"Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the Hand of God.

That shall be to you better than light and safer than a known way".

So I went forth, and finding the Hand of God, trod gladly into the night.

And He led me towards the hills and the breaking of day in the lone East.

So, take hold, dear students, of the hand of God almighty. He is ever present and ready to help you take each exciting step. He wants you to excel and succeed. You must also desire to seek His will every step of the way. As you know Him deeper, He will empower you to accomplish great things for Him. Your teachers and the staff of Kingston High are worthy of double honor, as they worked hard to guide you in the right direction. Make sure to thank them and come back to visit them as often as you can. Please know that we are always there to guide and support you. We are among your greatest cheerleaders.

Dr. Jerry George Mathew

THROUGH THE HALLS OF YESTERDAY

Valedictorian Speech by Daivik. V

Honorable Principal, respected teachers, dear parents, and my incredible friends, today is not just a farewell but a celebration of everything we have achieved together. As we prepare to embark on new adventures, I stand here overwhelmed with gratitude for the moments we've shared, the lessons we've learned, and the memories that will stay with us forever.

Looking back, it's hard to believe how quickly time has passed. Ten years ago, I walked into this school as a child, unsure of what lay ahead. Ten years later, I will be walking out of this school still as a child at heart, still unsure of what lays ahead. But today, I leave with a heart full of memories, friendships that feel like family, and lessons that will guide me for a lifetime. There is a saying which goes like: "What lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us." And what lies within us has been shaped by the incredible people who have stood by our side throughout this journey. The next part of my speech is a collective thought from all us students:

To our teachers—you have been more than educators; you have been our mentors, guides, and sometimes even our second parents. You believed in us even when we doubted ourselves. You taught us not just how to solve equations or analyze literature, but how to think, how to question, and how to strive for excellence. Thank you for your patience, your encouragement, and for shaping us into who we are today. As William Arthur Ward once said, "The mediocre teacher tells. The good teacher explains. The superior teacher demonstrates. The great teacher inspires." And you, dear teachers, have truly inspired us.

To our parents—thank you for being our pillars of strength. From the late-night study sessions to the endless encouragement before exams, you have been our greatest supporters. You have taught us resilience, kindness, and the value of hard work. Your sacrifices, often unseen, have paved the way for our success.

To my friends and classmates—we have laughed together, struggled together, and grown together. These years have been filled with unforgettable moments—the inside jokes, the group projects, the victories, and even the failures that taught us important lessons. We have been each other's support system, and I know that even as we walk different paths, the bond we share will always remain. As Winnie the Pooh once said, "How lucky I am to have something that makes saying goodbye so hard."

As we step into the unknown, let us remember that success is not just measured by the grades we receive or the careers we choose. True success is about being kind, being resilient, and never stopping the pursuit of knowledge and self-growth. Albert Einstein once said, "Try not to become a person of success, but rather try to become a person of value." Let's strive to be people of value—to make a difference in whatever we choose to do.

So today, let's not just celebrate an ending, but a beautiful beginning. The world is waiting for us, and I have no doubt that we are ready.

Congratulations, Class of 2025! We did it!

CULMINATION DAY AT KINGSTON!

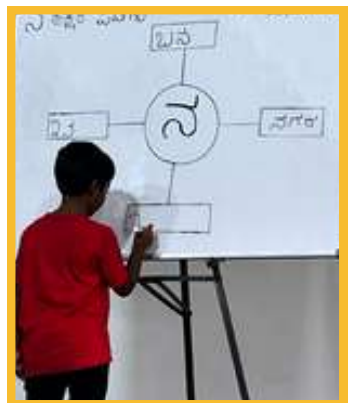

Culmination Day is a special occasion that marks the completion of a learning journey. It's the day our students proudly showcase all that they have discovered, created, and achieved over the term or academic year. From projects and performances to displays and presentations, it's a celebration of hard work, creativity, and growth.

At Kingston High, Culmination Day gives our students a platform to shine beyond exams and grades. It allows them to express their understanding in their own unique ways through art, music, drama, experiments, or research. It also gives parents and the school community a chance to witness the learning process come to life.

Here's a glimpse of our students in action, bringing their learning to life and making Culmination Day a memorable celebration of talent and teamwork.

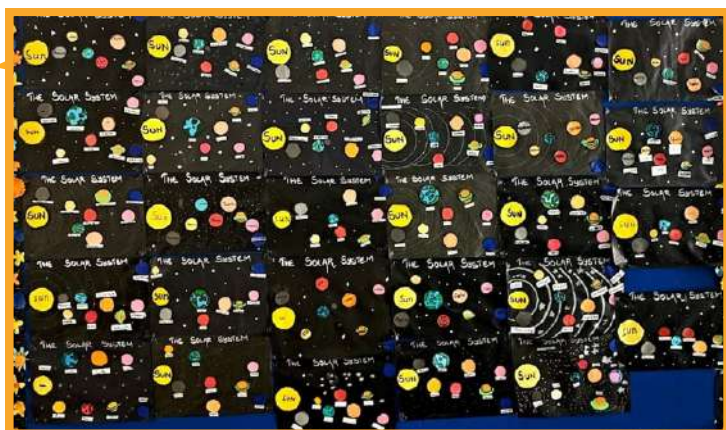

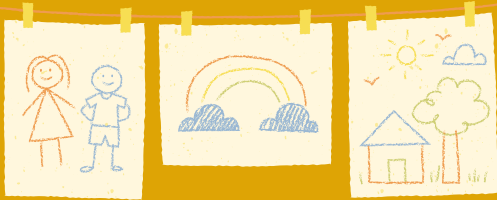

BOARD BUZZ

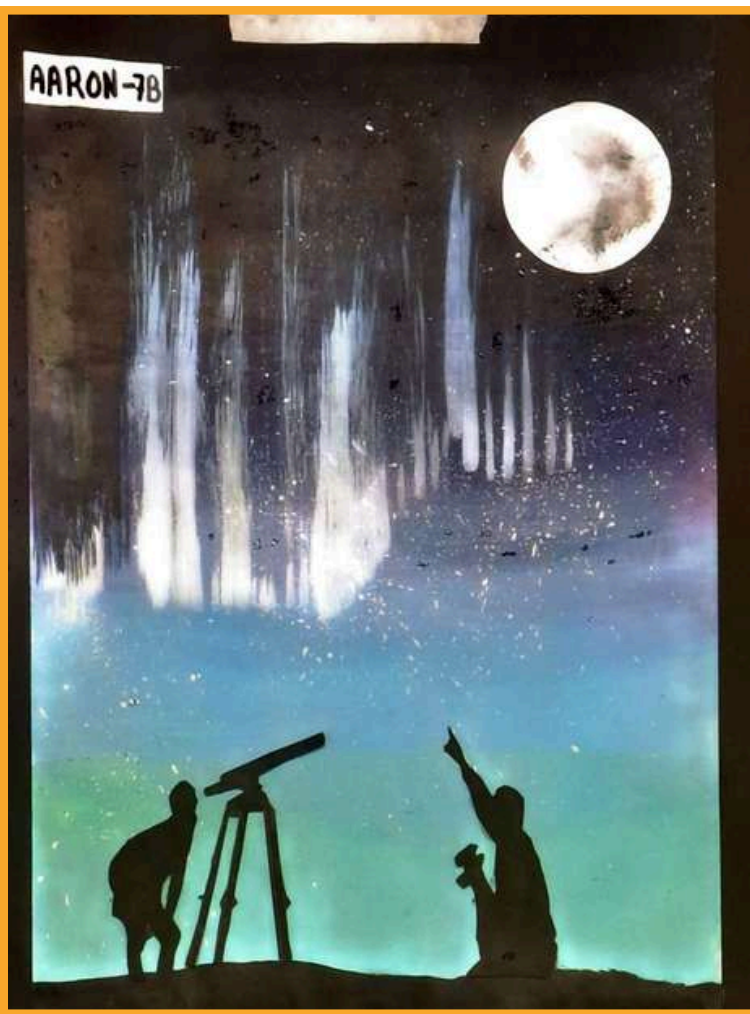

At Kingston, our class notice board is where information meets imagination. It's the place where we share announcements, homework reminders, and birthday wishes, keeping everyone updated and connected. Colourful artwork and creative displays brighten the board, reflecting the personality of our class. Motivational quotes inspire us, while fun facts and little surprises make us smile. Each update tells a part of our learning journey and celebrates our achievements. The board also encourages teamwork, as we work together to design and refresh it. Parents and visitors enjoy stopping by to see what's new. It's more than just a space for notices — it's a window into our classroom life. Every detail on the board shows that we learn, create, and grow together. In short, it's the heart of our class communication.

A DESCRIPTIVE PASSAGE ON A CHARACTER I EITHER HATED OR LOVED THE MOST.

Of all the books that I have read, one particular character that I commonly despise is Lord William Hamleigh from the book Pillars of the Earth. He plays a vital role as the antagonist throughout the book. The reason why I dislike this character is because he has such vile and vicious thoughts that he puts into action, causing destruction everywhere. In the beginning of the book, he is described as a young and handsome man, with commendable height, sharp facial features, blonde hair and blue eyes. With the combination of his looks and being the son of Lord Hamliegh, he makes almost every girl swoon. But his marriage proposal is publicly turned down by the female protagonist. The shame and embarrassment he goes through sparks a feeling of rage almost inhuman. Since the setting of the story takes place in the 14th - 15th century, a time when the Church and the monarchy held the ultimate power, when William gets the title of Lord, he seizes all power and wreaks havoc. He burns down patches of land belonging to peasants, publicly murders countless civilians, rapes many women including members of royalty and commits arson on an entire town.

One of the most infuriating factors about him is that he continues to commit such abominable acts throughout the book, spanning for about thirty to forty years. He continues to torture the same group of people till the moment he dies. Towards the end of the book, he is seen to have lost all his wealth, and his dreams of murdering the protagonist are shattered. He is old and haggard. His health is failing him, and eventually, he dies a lonely and sorrowful death.

Despite the pitiful scenes of the end of his life, and I cannot bring myself to feel even an inkling of pity or sympathy for this character, as the horrific acts of treachery and the ruthless massacres he carried out are far too great and numerous for any kind of defence for him.

I am sure that based on this description as William Hamleigh, one would agree with me when having also read the book, why I show my hatred and decided distaste towards the character.

AGATHA CHRISTIE'S POIROT

One of my hobbies is reading books particularly the books of Agatha Christie. The plots of her books are often very complex and reading them always proves to be entertaining.

Two of her most popular characters are Hercule Poirot and Agatha Christie's Miss Marple, however Hercule Poirot is my favourite character.

Hercule Poirot is a Belgian private detective who was a former policeman. His unique habits and behaviour is what makes him distinct from any other detectives.

He is short, stout and has a very brown moustache which he is very proud of. He has the habit of always arranging things in an orderly manner. He stays in White Haven Mansions, a large apartment in London.

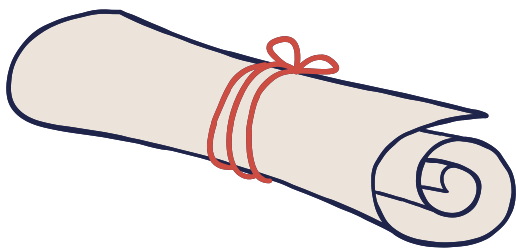

In most of the Hercule Poirot books he is described as a self-absorbed and egoistic person while also having a very gentle nature. In one of Agatha Christie's books, Poirot talks with the suspect of the crime and although they are complete strangers to him, they begin to speak to him as if he is a part of their family. This clearly shows his extraordinary ability to make people comfortable to speak to him.

Also he has the very rare ability to observe inconspicuous things that often help him solve his cases. He also tries to look at the motives of the criminals to try and solve the case effectively.

Unlike other detectives, he prefers to think in one place rather than constantly try to look for clues. Due to his many successes, the police from Scotland Yard eventually take him into their confidence and they trust him as if he is a member of Scotland Yard.

Poirot is widely regarded as the best detective in fiction thanks to Agatha Christie's exceptional ability to create interesting plots which showcase Poirot's brilliant minds.

GILBERT: A HEART THAT ENDURES

I once watched a show called "Anne with an 'e'" on Netflix, an adaptation of the book series titled "Anne of Green Gables". In the show was a character named Gilbert, whom I liked immensely.

Gilbert was a smart, studious and hardworking character. He had a lean and handsome physique and was predominantly looking after his father till he passed away. After his father's passing, we see Gilbert grow into an adventurous character. Though still not rich, he gets a job aboard a steamship and makes friends with a character named Bash. Some of Gilbert's most important traits are his kindness and willingness to help others. He's a very mature character who displays a more childish love for Anne in the beginning and over time this childish love becomes something much deeper and profound.

Though the series ends early, the books dive deeper into the story and we see Gilbert grow as an individual - who cares about his friends and the people around him, who loves his wife even in the midst of hardships and who goes on to provide for his beautiful family.

Some of the most captivating things about Gilbert include his perseverance throughout the show, his integrity and his faithfulness. He's a kindhearted person, one who knows how to tell people when he's upset yet able to forgive those who wrong him. His curly black hair that is in contrast with his fair white skin drew out his beauty. Gilbert's facial expressions, subtle as they may be, bring a greater depth into the series. Though not always perfect, his evolving emotions are something we as humans can connect to. The depths of major events of the series, his longing for something new, his sadness and his love are all things we as people can connect to. Though I've watched many pieces of excellent cinematography, nothing has won over my heart like "Anne with an 'e'", and I daresay that the love of Gilbert played a major role in it!

FREE (OR INEXPENSIVE) HEALTH-CARE IS THE BEST HEALTH CARE

I would like to start off this essay by stating that free or inexpensive health-care is certainly not the best health care. I am against this topic since I believe healthcare must be charged for various reasons.

Firstly, healthcare is one of the most important amenities of the world today. With multiple diseases, viruses and different variants of viruses arising, free healthcare would not provide sufficient funding to find a cure for these diseases.

Secondly, to become a doctor, the amount of money that is paid as fees just to be educated is high. Parents and students struggle to pay high fees every year. If health-care was inexpensive, the salaries of these people would be greatly affected and they would not get the fruits for their hard work.

Moreover, the price of the medical appliances and items are increasing as the days pass. Ventilators, oxygen tanks and many more require a lavish sum of money to be purchased by a hospital. With free healthcare, the hospitals barely make any profit, which leads to lack of supply.

Finally, the tedious and meticulous process of performing a surgery as a doctor is certainly not easy, and if the doctors aren't paid according to their qualification, it leads to lack of motivation and the mentality to work harder.

I would like to conclude my essay by stating that although healthcare must not be so expensive that people cannot afford it, healthcare must definitely be charged due to the amount of hard work everyone puts in at the hospital. This would also lead to the growth of the economy.

A BOOK REVIEW ON TO KILL A MOCKINGBIRD

To Kill a Mockingbird is a thriller novel authored by Harper Lee in 1960. The book consists of about 300 pages. It won a Pulitzer Prize in 1961 and now has become a classic in modern American literature. This novel is narrated by the protagonist - an unconventional girl named Jean Louise or "Scout". She lives with her brother Jeremy "Jem" Finch, her father Atticus Finch and their helper, Calpurnia, in the fictional town of Maycomb, Alabama. Atticus Finch is a prominent lawyer in his town, greatly respected by all. One day, Tom Robinson - a black man - is accused of raping a white woman named Mayella Ewell. Finch decides to defend Tom in court, angling the blame towards Ewell's father, Bob Ewell, a drunkard. Another storyline involves Scout, Jem and their friend Charles Baker "Dill" Harris who are curious about their reclusive neighbour "Boo" Radley.

This novel is a Southern gothic thriller that highlights themes like racial injustice, social inequality, prejudice and the coexistence of good and evil in a rural setting. It also explores Scout's personal growth and her loss of innocence, making it a bildungsroman. Scout begins to understand that not everything is fair in the world. I loved how Lee created her characters, each serving their own purpose in the advancement of the storyline. One of my favourite characters was Atticus. He is a hero in this novel, not because of his physical strength but because of the morals and values he teaches his children, serving as a moral compass in the story. His character is a breath of fresh air in the story amongst the evident racism portrayed by others.

Lee starts the story with a seemingly simple narrative but ties it beautifully to the novel's central message - the importance of moral integrity. Another message is the significance of empathy, a virtue that Atticus insists on teaching his children. The title, "To Kill a Mockingbird", is befitting. Atticus tells his children that it is a sin to kill a mockingbird. Miss Maudie further explains that mockingbirds cause no harm but sing, and it would be "senseless cruelty" to kill them. This reflects the message that innocent people should not be harmed or taken advantage of.

I thoroughly enjoyed this book and would highly recommend it to anyone interested in the history of civil rights. As there are mentions of rape, profanity and violence, this book is more suited for a mature audience, so that it is truly appreciated for its literary qualities. A masterpiece by Harper Lee!

Not Weakness, Just Uniqueness!

DYSLEXIA

WHAT IT IS: DIFFICULTY IN READING, SPELLING, AND RECOGNIZING WORDS.

REACTION: PARENTS AND TEACHERS MUST AVOID CRITICISM AND SHOW PATIENCE AND ENCOURAGEMENT.

SOLUTION: USE PHONICS-BASED READING, AUDIOBOOKS, AND GIVE EXTRA TIME FOR ASSIGNMENTS. CELEBRATE SMALL VICTORIES.

DYSCALCULIA

WHAT IT IS: STRUGGLES WITH NUMBERS, ARITHMETIC, AND MATHEMATICAL CONCEPTS.

REACTION: AVOID COMPARISONS WITH OTHER STUDENTS. REASSURE CHILDREN THAT INTELLIGENCE IS NOT DEFINED BY MATH SKILLS.

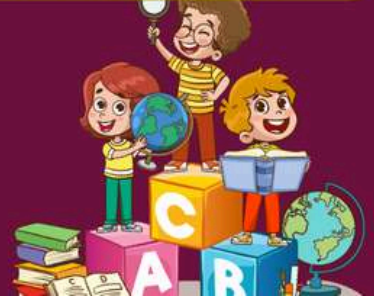

SOLUTION: USE VISUAL AIDS, STEP-BY-STEP TEACHING, AND HANDS-ON ACTIVITIES LIKE COUNTING REAL OBJECTS.

DYSGRAPHIA

WHAT IT IS: PROBLEMS WITH HANDWRITING, SPELLING, AND ORGANIZING THOUGHTS ON PAPER.

REACTION: NEVER SCOLD FOR MESSY HANDWRITING OR SPELLING ERRORS. SHOW UNDERSTANDING.

SOLUTION: ALLOW TYPING, ORAL RESPONSES, DRAWING, AND BREAK WRITING TASKS INTO SMALLER STEPS.

CONCLUSION

Every child is a gift, created with unique abilities. Some children face challenges in learning that are often mistaken for laziness or lack of intelligence. These are called learning disabilities, and they simply mean the child learns in a different way. With the right support, every child can shine.

DIVINE DRYADS

From reddish-brown to velvet green,
You can see her leaves flow;
The ever so gentle whispers of the breeze,
The quiet heart filled with joy.
You will never see her falter,
Nor will she ever turn away;
Her spirit that was once created,
Is now here to stay.

The wind blew,
My sorrows grew,
Yet she was there by my side.
With gentle movements of her leaves,
She assured me He knew.

The trees are so full of wisdom,
yet so loving and kind.
When I see them I am consumed by love,
Their beauty knows no bounds.
Oh! The beauty of a gentle spirit who can fathom?
Her loving eyes and gentle smile,
See right through one's soul.

When you look at her,
There's not a thing not to love;
She resembles her Creator,
The highest in heaven
And the loveliest of them all.

Our love that once began,
Now has no end.
Our abounding joy,
The incomprehensible companionship;
Our lips now sing with joy:
"We'll meet each other again,
Even on the other side."

In this world one thing remains sure and certain;
It is that she loves me,
And that I love her,
Both now and forevermore.

THE EARTH

I am the Earth
I offer you endless gifts.
From rich soil to towering trees,
Each crowned with lush green leaves.

I give you space to live.
Yet, in return, you contribute to pollution and unhealthy air.
This harm not only affects me but also your own future.
You must act now to protect what remains.

People often act without thinking of the harm they cause.
But what I offer you is far greater.
Take a moment to think about what you do.
Because every action leaves a mark on the world.

But you have another chance.
Please take this message and share it with others.
So that you can make a difference,
And together, we can restore the Earth!

THE WORLD RIGHT NOW

"Maybe in another universe
The stars align just right.
Birds, now grounded, free to fly,
Soaring through the sky, their heads held high

Maybe in another universe
Animals won't run in fear
They would be able to live free
Not a care in the world.

Maybe in another universe
The air we breathe is clean,
The water would be crystal clear
The soil holds foliage so pure

Maybe in another universe,
Fish could swim in seas unrestrained.
For we need another universe so dire
Since ours we take no effort to rewire"

LOSS OF WORDS

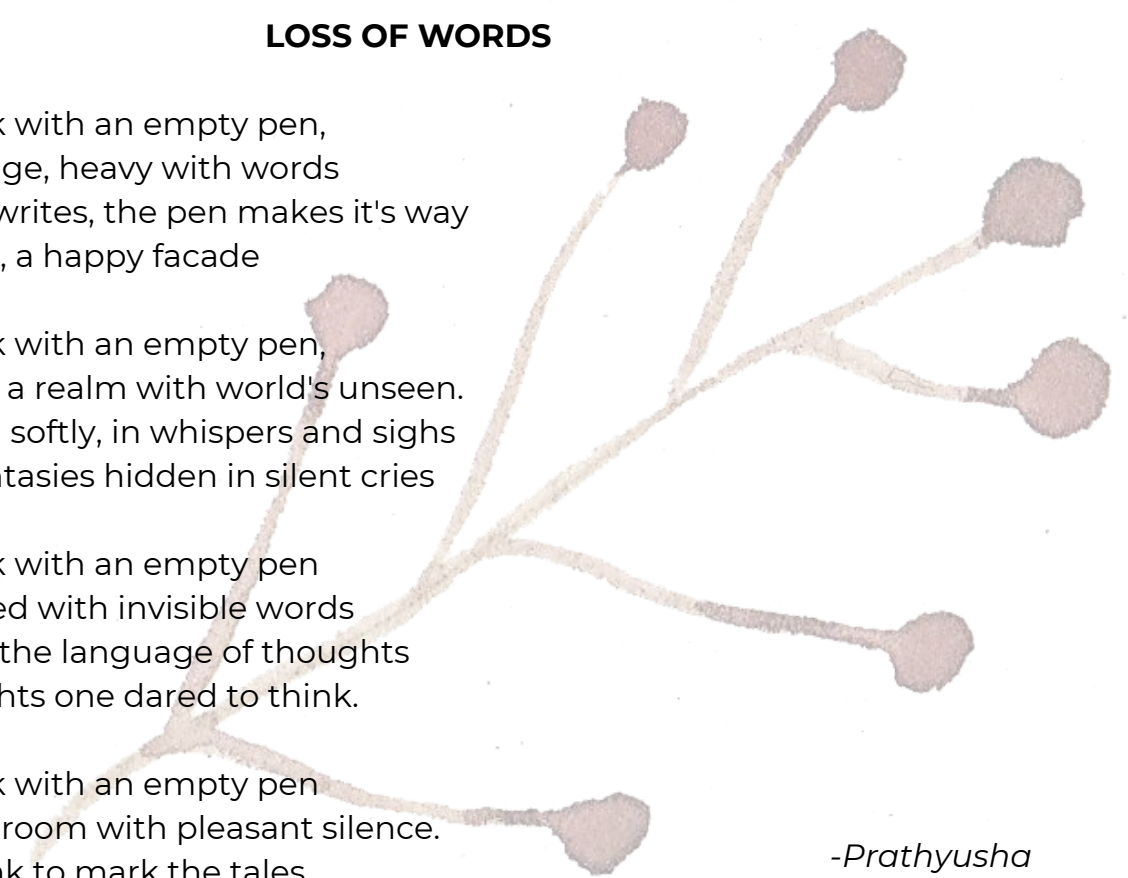

I wrote a book with an empty pen,
Inkless cartridge, heavy with words
Each letter it writes, the pen makes it's way
Paving a path, a happy facade

I wrote a book with an empty pen,
Each chapter, a realm with world's unseen.
Stories woven softly, in whispers and sighs
Yet, all the fantasies hidden in silent cries

I wrote a book with an empty pen
The pages filled with invisible words
All written in the language of thoughts
All the thoughts one dared to think.

I wrote a book with an empty pen
And filled the room with pleasant silence.
No need for ink to mark the tales
For the pen that writes within never leaves
